

52%

of organizations believe that management software managing across on- and off-premises environments IS A HYBRID CLOUD REQUIREMENT

Hybrid cloud is the long-term cloud strategy for most companies today. However, the continued importance of on-premises IT environments is clear and systems management solutions need to focus on providing the level of management integration that companies are looking for. The continued maturation of the hybrid cloud management market will unlock both new markets for vendors and the promise of cloud agility with companies for years to come.

LEARN MORE

Original survey question:

Which of the following characteristics do you believe are hybrid cloud requirements?

Survey respondents:

318 IT decision makers with knowledge of and/or responsibility for systems management or cloud infrastructure strategy at organizations in North America.

Source:

ESG Brief, Applications Help to Define Hybrid Cloud, June 2017.